biography

Tai Lokun is a rising artist in the global electronic music scene, celebrated for her deep yet energetic sets that effortlessly blend classic house, groovy techno, breaks, and percussive drums. London-based but with a diverse international background, her style reflects a rich mix of sonic and cultural influences.

Though still early in her career, Tai has already made a significant impact at some of the world's most renowned festivals and venues. She's played at Glastonbury's Silver Hayes & Block 9, Draaimolen, Horst, and Gala, alongside club appearances at Berlin's Panorama Bar and London's Fabric. Her international reach extends to New York, Bali, and Singapore.

Tai's presence extends beyond the club, with regular appearances on some of the industry's most respected radio stations. She's hosted a residency on Rinse FM, appeared on NTS, The Lot Radio, and Refuge Worldwide, using radio as a space to explore and share her evolving sound.

In 2023, Tai launched District Unknown, an event series created to spotlight emerging artists and deliver music-led nights that break away from traditional headliner formats. The project reflects her commitment to curating high-quality, unpredictable lineups and fostering a sense of community around forward-thinking club music.
