Don't Overthink This

biography

Lola's sound is not definable by genre, but by mood. By blurring the lines between deep, hypnotic baselines, spectral melodies and energetic drive, Lola takes dancers on a dreamlike journey – and tells a different story every time.

Growing up in a family deeply rooted in Antwerp's underground scene, Lola developed her unique understanding of electronic music at a young age. Record shops became her hive, 90s House classics the soundtrack to her childhood. While rocking the drums for over a decade, Lola's early teenage years were spent digging and collecting at Wally's Groove World. Ultimately, this defined her versatile taste and growth as a DJ – and inspires the signature sound she's admired for today. Recognized internationally, Lola receives a regular welcome at festivals like DGTL, Dimensions, Horst, Lost Village or Paradise City. And ignites world-renowned clubs such as De School, Post Bar, Fabric London, and Berghain Panorama Bar.

In 2022, Lola founded her record label Small Steps to support promising artists. The label unites a like-minded community to explore new soundscapes and dreamy atmospheres. Through her longstanding involvement with the local music scene, Lola hosts regular label events and has established a Small Steps residency with Brussels-based Kiosk Radio.
