biography

Based in Seoul, Kollin is steadily gaining international attention, especially following her appearance at Boiler Room Tokyo in October 2025. A multi-instrumentalist from a young age, she discovered her musical identity while living and modeling in the UK, later honing it through performances in South Korea’s underground scene.

Her genre-blending sound revolves around heavy bass, combining reggaeton, amapiano, and breakbeat rhythms with an electronic edge and unexpected fusions of UK bass, grime, and EDM bangers — resulting in sets that captivate with their energy and boldness.

Kollin has played venues across South Korea, UK, France, China, Japan, and Taiwan. She has also dropped sets at global fashion brands events like Diesel, Kiko Kostadinov, Stone Island, Dolce & Gabbana, and Miu Miu.

Now focused on taking a leap forward as a producer and performer, Kollin is solidifying her place in electronic music in Asia and beyond, driven by her unique vision.

KOLLIN’S VISION

“Music is a journey through dualities—finding the familiar within the unfamiliar, and blending genres and emotions to create something new. It’s a reflection of cultural tastes, habits, and tendencies, shaped by the unique circumstances of each place. By embracing this diversity, music becomes a space where boundaries blur and a broader, richer spectrum of expression emerges.”
